

New Series

Vol. VII [Extra Number]

OHIO UNIVERSITY
BULLETIN

ALUMNI NUMBER

ATHENS, OHIO

APRIL, 1910

---

PUBLISHED BY THE UNIVERSITY

Entered at the Postoffice at Athens, Ohio, as Second Class Matter.

OHIO UNIVERSITY

BULLETIN

ALUMNI NUMBER

ATHENS, OHIO

---

PUBLISHED BY THE UNIVERSITY

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2011 with funding from
LYRASIS Members and Sloan Foundation

To few men does life bring a brighter day than that which places the crown upon their scholastic labors and bids them go forth from the halls of Alma Mater to the great world's battle-field. There is a freshness in these early triumphs which, like the bloom and fragrance of the flower, is quickly lost never to be found again even by those for whom fortune reserves her most choice gifts. Fame, though hymned by myriad tongues, is not so sweet as the delight we drink from the tear-dimmed eyes of our mothers and sisters in the sacred hours when we can yet claim as our own the love of higher things, the faith and hope which makes this mortal life immortal and fills a moment with a wealth of memories which lasts throughout years.—Bishop Spaulding.

AN APPRECIATION.

The leaves upon the campus trees
Are weaving patterns on the sky,
As stirred by every springtime breeze
They charm the dreamy student eye,
As by some old magician's art.
This printed page brings back to me
Those pictures painted on my heart,
Kaleidoscopic—changing fast—
A shadow, then a light, appears—
A smile o'er comedies long past;
For some the tragedy of tears.

What e'er has come in after life,
What e'er the gift that fortune gave—
Of failure, or victorious strife,
Of happy home, or early grave—
What e'er has been, or what may be,
Still memory will hold its sway;
For linked by golden bands are we—
Those boys and girls of yesterday.

WILLA MacLANE PUGH, '00.

Toledo, Ohio, May 25, 1909.

FOREWORD.

In presenting the "Verified" list of the Ohio University Living Alumni it was thought best to arrange the names according to location. The organization of Local Alumni Associations has suggested that arrangement for this year.

It is not out of place here to say that some of our alumni are extremely careless in the matter of replying promptly to the communications sent out from the Alumni Office. The annual "Verification Card" is mailed about the first of September. Three-fourths of the cards are returned at once. The other one-fourth must be notified from two to five times. Let it be impressed upon all the necessity of promptness. The only way we can be sure of a correct list is for each alumnus to answer for himself.

Thanks are due to all who have in any way assisted the Secretary in his work, and for the kind words of appreciation, expressed by many, regarding the last Bulletin.

The Alumni of the Ohio University have now four organizations. The meeting of the General Association, at the last annual Commencement, was largely attended by visiting and local Alumni. The other Associations are the Pittsburg, the Columbus and the Southern Ohio. Others are in contemplation. The meetings of these associations have been pleasant occasions, and the enthusiasm manifested by the friends of the University is most gratifying.

Every alumnus ought to feel the necessity of coming back to his college home once in a while. In order that our visitors may meet as many of their former class-mates as possible, there was inaugurated at the last Commencement the system of Decennial Class Reunions. As a result many of the members of the "ten-year" classes were present. This year, 1910, the classes of 1860, 1870, 1880, 1890 and 1900 are due to have a reunion on the old campus, and it is not too early to begin thinking about it now.

The Museum of the University has been re-organized and now occupies quarters in the Carnegie Library. Our Alumni can be of great service to us in helping to increase the number of exhibits. These may come either as gifts or loans. In either event proper credit will be given to the person who will assist in making the Museum worthy of the name.

The Alumni Loan Fund is growing apace. The sum now credited to the Fund is $3,250.00. The two largest gifts of the year came, $100.00 from Col. Robert P. Scott, Cadiz, Ohio, and $250.00 from Dr. Robert V. Drwin, '68, Bay City, Michigan. Twelve students have been loaned this year in amounts ranging from $30.00 to $100.00.

This Fund ought to appeal to every alumnus of the Ohio University. It is a valuable philanthropic work, because it reaches the individual, needing the help, directly. Besides, it is cumulative, in that it comes back again with interest, so that the same dollar is capable of doing service many times over to worthy young men and women.

The Alumni Secretary is desirous of keeping in touch with every graduate of the Ohio University. To this end it is hoped that as a loyal alumnus of the old college you will notify the office of changes in address, name or occupation. The various publications of the University will be sent you as they appear, that you may know what is doing in college halls.

C. L. MARTZOLFF, '07,

Athens, O., April 1, 1910.

Alumni Secretary. -

Living Alumni of Ohio University

---

These names and addresses have been verified since September 1st, 1909, by each alumnus, whose name appears in the list : : :

---

ADELPHI, O.

M'Pherson, William Bane, '93. Principal of Schools.

AKRON, O.

Beery, Clyde Ferdinand, '93. Attorney, 28 Oakland Avenue.

Brookover, Charles, '94. Professor Natural Science, Buchtel College.

M'Caughey, Ulysses M., '95. History Teacher, High School.

Zang, Jacob Milton, '03. Claim Department, Diamond Rubber Company.

ALBANY, O.

Blackwood, Nelle Rosamond, '01. (Mrs. Frank Coe.)

ALEXANDRIA, O.

Stiers, Vernon Culver, '72. Farmer.

ALLIANCE, O.

Lamb, George Franklin, '02. Professor of Biology and Geology, Mt. Union College.

AMANDA, O.

Murphy, James William, '58. Farmer.

Ricketts, Thomas Mintun, '80. Methodist Clergyman.

ANN ARBOR, MICH.

Coler, George Perry, '82. Professor Ann Arbor Bible Chair, 444 S. State St.

ASHLAND, O.

Henderson, John Frederick, '98. Attorney.

ASHLAND, KY.

Ginn, George P., '92. Attorney.

AURORA, O.

Eversole, William Sylvester, '69. Retired Teacher.

ATHENS, O.

Atk. Albert Algernon, '91. Professor of Physics and Electrical Engineering, Ohio University.

Bro. Jacob A., '09. Instructor of Biology, Ohio University.

Bro. E. Blyn, '09. Critic Teacher, State Normal College.

Bro. Rollen, '91. Physician, and Manager of Coal Company.

Bro. , '04. Assistant Librarian, Ohio University.

Bro. , '09. Instructor of Stenography, Ohio University.

Bush, Frederick Woodward, '92. Editor Athens Messenger.
 Chappellear, Mary Laurette Bursdal, '09. Instructor of Music, Ohio University.
 Clayton, Jefferson Baird, '62. Manufacturer.
 Conner, May Sherwood, '02. Teacher of Mathematics, High School.
 Copeland, Charles Moffat, '96. Director School of Commerce, Ohio University.
 Franklin, ' Professor Elementary Science, State Normal
 Emerson, '05. Electrical Contractor.
 Stanton, '75. Principal State Preparatory School, Ohio
 ty.
 Coultra, Charles, '08. Newsdealer.
 Craig, Florence Maude, '98 (Mrs. Hiram R. Wilson). 36 West Union Street.
 Dailey, William Bert, '97. Dentist.
 Dana, John Perkins, '67. Deputy Auditor, Athens County.
 Dunkle, Eli, '77. Registrar, Ohio University.
 Evans, Dafydd Joshua, '71. Professor of Latin, Ohio University.
 Foster, Israel Moore, '95. Prosecuting Attorney, Athens County.
 Foster, Zella, '97. Principal of High School.
 Foster, Harry Zadoc, '09. Employed by Hull Foster, Jr., Hides and Furs.
 Goodspeed, Joseph M'Kendree, '59. Retired Teacher.
 Haning, Harley Hildreth, '94. Insurance Agent, and Treasurer of Ohio Univ.
 Harris, Charles Henry, '06. City Editor "Athens Daily Messenger."
 Hines, Hattie May, '91 (Mrs. William Blackburn). Music Teacher.
 Hobson, Rebecca Estella, '97 (Mrs. E. Ray Lash, Jr.).
 Horn, Burnice LeRoy, '01. Advertising Manager "Athens Daily Messenger."
 Hoover, Thomas Nathaniel, '05. Professor of History, State Normal College.
 Jones, Evan Jerome, '73. Attorney.
 Jones, Albert Johnson, '05. Real Estate Agent.
 Lawrence, Wesley Boyd, '92. Insurance and Real Estate.
 Lefavor, Zenia Estella, '97 (Mrs. John M'Clead).
 Martzloff, Clement Luther, '07. Alumni Secretary, Ohio University.
 Matthews, Carrie Alta, '92.
 Matthews, Charles Grant, '93. Librarian Carnegie Library.
 Michael, Lenore Phoebe, '89 (Mrs. L. G. Worstell).
 Mohler, Nellie Blanche, '07. Teacher of History and Science, High School.
 Morgan, Thurman Leroy, '03. Court Stenographer.
 O'Bleness, Charles Garnett, '98. Cashier, Security Savings Bank Company.
 Palmer, Edith, '09. Teacher in Public Schools.
 Parks, George Crawford, '08. Instructor, School of Commerce, Ohio University.
 Peters, Chrissie May, '03 (Mrs. M. H. Williamson).
 Pickering, Nelle Marcus, '02. Teacher in Public Schools.
 Price, Aaron Ellsworth, '88. Attorney.
 Reinherr, Helen Adella, '05 (Mrs. W. F. Copeland).
 Ryan, Jane Ellen, '93 (Mrs. George Z. DeCamp).
 Scott, Winfield Kenneth, '98. Merchant.
 Simon, Mary Anna, '08. Teacher in High School.
 Sprague, Jennie Edyth, '03 (Mrs. H. S. Srigley).
 Stalder, Harry G., '93. Attorney.
 Sullivan, Frederick Taylor, '03. Contracting Agent, Bell Telephone Comp.
 Super, Francis Henry, '95. Manufacturing.
 Townsend, Mary Allen, '02 (Mrs. Harvey Porter)

Walker, George Ralph, '72. Bookseller and Stationer.
Weethee, Lucy Wilkin, '98 (Mrs. Charles H. Bryson).
Weihr, Amy Moore, '95. Critic Teacher, State Normal College.
Wickham, Ada Ann, '98 (Mrs. Harry C. O'Brieness).
Wilson, Hiram Roy, '96. Professor of English, State Normal College.
Wood, James Perry, Jr., '03. Attorney.
Woodruff, Edith, '88 (Mrs. Edwin D. Sa...)
Worstell, Lawrence Grant, '88. Attorney.

BAHIA BLANCA, ARGENTINA, S. A.

Batterson, Frank John, '98. M. E. Missionary, 447 Estomba S...

BALTIMORE, MD.

Blake, Charles French, '91. Professor of Operative Surgery, College Physicians and Surgeons, 20 E. Preston Street.
Norton, Willey Higby, '06. Student, Johns Hopkins Medical School, 1810
North Broadway.

BELLEFONTAINE, O.

Windsor, Anthony Horace, '63. Retired M. E. Clergyman.

BELLINGHAM, WASH.

Wilson, Mabel Zoe, '00. Librarian, State Normal College.

BETHANY, MO.

Harrison, Thomas Jay, '70. Farmer.

BLANCHESTER, O.

Watkins, Mary Carson, '09. Teacher of Latin, High School.

BLAIRSTOWN, N. J.

Atkinson, John Hampton, '97. Head of Department of English, Blairstown Academy.

BLISSFIELD, MICH.

Hensel, Michael Wesley, '93. Commissioner of Schools, Lenawee County.

BLOOMINGTON, IND.

Kirkendall, Julia Margaret, '83 (Mrs. Campbell), 435 Henderson Street.

BOAC, MARINDUQUE, P. I.

Baker, Emmett E., '94. Supervisor of Schools.

BOSTON, MASS.

Krout, Boyd Merrill, '09. Student, Harvard Medical School, 23 Wigglesworth Street.

BREMEN, O.

... Esther Helen, '96.

BRIGHTON PIER, TRINIDAD, B. W. I.

... Robert Francis, Jr., '03. Cashier, "The New Trinidad Lake Asphalt Co., L'td.," and Consular Agent United States.
... Jare Bayard, '06 (Mrs. Robert F. Bishop, Jr.).

BROWNWOOD, TEX.

Harter, ... '03. Teacher of English, Public Schools, 903 Center Avenue.

BUCHTEL, O.

Thomas, William Alexander, '96. Methodist Clergyman.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

Creighton, Charles Frisbie, '70. Pastor St. Mark's Methodist Church, 448 Elk Street.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

David, '09. Graduate Student, Harvard University, 74 Oxford St.
Thomas, '09. Fellow in History and Government, Harvard
Graduate School, 21 College House.

CAMBRIDGE, O.

Connett, Della May, '97 (Mrs. G. W. Hixon), 145 West Eighth Street.

CARTHAGE, MO.

Matthews, Daniel, '76. Farmer, R. F. D. No. 6.

CEDAR FALLS, IOWA.

Gist, William Wesley, '72. Professor of English, Iowa State Teachers' College.

CEDARVILLE, O.

Henderson, Lulu May, '06. Teacher.

CEREDO, W. VA.

Jones, John Wesley, '97. Superintendent of Schools (Ceredo-Kenova).

CHAGRIN FALLS, O.

M'Glenen, Daniel W., '90. College Agent.

CHAMPAIGN, ILL.

Bennett, Elizabeth Ruth, '03. Graduate Student, University Illinois, 1006 South Sixth Street.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.

Welch, Charles Henry, '78. Investments, Bank and Trust Building.

CHARLES TOWN, W. VA.

Smith, Cruger Wormly, '67. Lawyer and Financier.

CHENEY, WASH.

Curran, Oscar Waldo, '09. Registrar and Instructor in Biological Sciences, State Normal College.

CHESTER, W. VA.

Young, Thomas Lee, '95. Manager, The South Side Water Works Company.

CHICAGO, ILL.

Atkinson, Charles Andrew, '74. Attorney, 4541 Woodlawn Avenue.

Dixon, Charles Herbert, '73. Journalist, "Chicago Sunday Examiner," 1407 East 47th Street.

Foss, Ashley Francis, '97. Teacher of Botany, Englewood High School, 1340 Washington Boulevard.

Linton, Nancy E., '03. Teacher in Public Schools, 238 East Erie Street.

Place, Benoni Austin, '04. Student, Rush Medical College, 615 Ashland Street.

Snow, John Edwin, '92. Associate Professor of Electrical Engineering, Institute of Technology, 501 East 60th Street.

Sooy-Smith, William, '49. Civil Engineer, Monadnock Street, Riverside.
Treadley, Mary, '06. Graduate Student, Chicago University, Green Hall.
Wickham, Mabel Leona, '01 (Mrs. B. A. Place), 615 Ashland Boulevard.
Wisda, James William, '09. Teacher in St. Cyerl's College, 6427

CHELLICOTHE, O.

Clayton, Mary Florence, '06. Stenographer, United States Census Department.
Coultrap, Manning Gebhardt, '06. Agent for The Geiger-Jor
Bonds and Industrial Securities.
Hawk, Adam James, '79. M. E. Clergyman, 381 East Second Street.
Kirkendall, Fred Claire, '93. Superintendent of Schools.
Tinker, Elisha Austin, '93. Attorney, 227 East Second Street.

CINCINNATI, O.

Boyd, William Fletcher, '66. Attorney, Carlisle Building.
Glazier, Lena Blanche, '03 (Mrs. Guy B. Roush), 829 Windham Avenue.
Koons, Stella Irene, '99. Teacher, 309 West Second Street.
McCune, Samuel Levi, '96. National Bank Examiner, Gillespie Hotel.
Moore, David Hastings, '60. Bishop in the Methodist Episcopal Church, No. 1
The Alexandria.
Mullikin, Edward W., '54. Life Insurance, 2344 Ohio Avenue.
Parks, David W. Presbyterian Clergyman, 2103 Dana Avenue.
Patterson, Lena Estella, '09. Student, Art School, 1267 Ida Street, Mt. Adams.
Porter, William Daniel, '83. Physician, 2527 Gilbert Avenue.
Sternberger, Frank J., '81. Broker, Clifton.
Thomas, Clement Eugene, '04. English Teacher, Woodward High School, 1924 Delaware Avenue, Norwood.
Tugman, William Martin, '77. Attorney, No. 309 Johnston Building, Fifth and Walnut Streets.
Zenner, Phillip, '70. Physician, 14 and 19 Glenn Building.

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO.

Blackstone, Thomas, '71. Physician, 202 North Court Street.
Miesse, Morris H., '64. Physician, 129 North Court Street.

CLEVELAND, O.

Dana, Emma K., '79. Teacher of Mathematics and Latin, Lincoln High School, 2963 Scranton Road.
Hyde, William H., '93. Physician and Surgeon, 8411 Clark Avenue.
Irwin, Algernon Charles, '03. Assistant Engineer, Grade Elimination, No. 220
Hickox Building.

COLLINS, O.

Bargus, Allen D., '93. Farmer.

COOLVILLE, O.

Humphrey, Shepard S., '92. Farmer.

COLUMBIA, MO.

Scott, John Rutledge, '64. Professor of Elocution, University of Missouri.

COLUMBUS, O.

Abel, '99. President Correspondent Institute, 1763 Oak Street.
'93. Teacher of English, Central High School, 1462 Fair Ave.

Carlton, John S., '88. Physician, 1187 Neil Avenue.

Cline, Cecil Roy, '00. Law Student, Ohio State University, 62 East 11th Street.

Coler, C. S., '83. Superintendent Schools, Hebron, O., 174 First Avenue.

Crooks, Floyd Stanley, '06. State Auditor's Department, 207 Linwood Avenue.

Dickason, Hiram Edgar, '77. Auditor, The W. J. Hamilton Coal Co., 115 Sherman Avenue.

Elder, Adam Griggs, '04. Physician, 1072 North High Street.

Grosvenor, Grace, '93 (Mrs. C. M. Shepard), 172 South Ohio Avenue.

Gullum, Frank Barnhart, '07. Teacher of Science, East High School, 462 West Broad Street.

Harlor, Joseph A., '94. State Agent, Chas. Scribner's Sons, 119 West 10th Ave.

Heilman, William Theodore, '04. Teacher of Chemistry, North High School.

Henke, Heber Hunt, '08. Draftsman, Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., 148 West Sixth Avenue.

Higgins, Cyrus Dow, '05. Student, Ohio Medical University, 16 East Lincoln Street.

Johnston, Frederick Preston, '02. Credit Manager, Columbus Brass Co., 1978 Iuka Avenue.

Jones, John W., '93. Superintendent, School for the Deaf.

Jones, Anna Marie, '97. Proof-reader, 549 School Street.

McMaster, James Clayton, '91. Electrical Contractor, 114 North Third Street.

McVey, John Tipton, '07. Student, Starling-Ohio Medical College, 87 Hubbard Avenue.

Mardis, Samuel Kennedy, '93. State School Inspector, 313 West Fifth Avenue.

Roberts, John H., '99. Salesman, 142 North High Street.

Scott, William Henry, '62. Professor Philosophy, Ohio State University, Kenworth Place, Clintonville.

Shepard, Cassius Marion, '96. Physician, 347 East State Street.

Smith, Murray Franklin, '04. Street Car Conductor, 1620 South Fourth Street.

Tooill, George Washington, '05. Teacher, Mathematics and Science, North High School, 81 West Ninth Avenue.

Wakefield, Thomas Gardner, '68. Methodist Episcopal Clergyman, 172 West Lane Avenue.

Westervelt, Charles Ephraim, '92. Attorney, 1202 Oregon Avenue.

Young, William Henry, '53. Ex-U. S. Consul to Carlsruhe, Germany, "The Normandie."

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA.

Beveridge, John Harrie, '97. Superintendent of Schools.

CRESCENT CITY, CAL.

Stanley, George Robbins, '66. Methodist Episcopal Clergyman.

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL.

Smith, Adelaide V., '81 (Mrs. M. G. Wright), 121 North Second Street.

CROOKSVILLE, O.

DeLong, George Washington, '94. Principal of High School.

DAYTON, O.

Caldwell, Josephine, '05 (Mrs. J. J. Stout), 921 Brown Street.

Connett, Harry Lewis, '05. Physician, 332-334 Arcade Building.

Nease, Nannie Louise, '03 (Mrs. H. M. McCord), 132 Bellevue Avenue.

Ricketts, Samuel Bright, '78. Real Estate Promoter, 104 Eagle Street.
Riley, Martina Mary, '01 (Mrs. E. U. Cave), 23 Lexington Avenue.
Wells, George E., '70. Attorney, Military Home.

DEFIANCE, O.

Matheny, Charles Morris, '00. Principal of High School, 830 Washington St.

DELAWARE, C.

Hill, Malinda Harriett, '97 (Mrs. J. B. Woodworth), 21 West Central Avenue.

DENVER, COL.

Evans, Jacob Claire, '01. Chemist, 1049 Clayton Street.
Iiff, Thomas Corwin, '70. Assistant Secretary Board Home Missions, M. E. Church, 2284 Josephine Street, University Park.
Roberts, Frank Hunt Hurd, '92. Professor of History and Political Science, University of Denver, 2112 South Columbine Street.

DEXTER, O.

Morton, Joshua Romine, '05. Teacher of Chemistry.

DOWNINGTON, O.

Clark, John Lewis, '98. Stockman and Farmer.

DUBUQUE, IOWA.

Shiras, Oliver Perry, '53. Attorney; United States Judge, Northern District of Iowa, 1882-1903, Hotel Julien.

EAST ORANGE, N. J.

Higley, Homer Ransom, '92. Assistant Professor Mathematics, Stevens Institute of Technology, 173 North 17th Street.

EAST STROUDSBURG, PA.

Kurtz, Anna Elizabeth, '01. Teacher, State Normal College.

EATON, O.

Brown, Minnie Francis, '01. Teacher, High School, Barron Street.

FAIRFIELD, ILL.

McCorkle, Charles Edward, '09. Principal of High School.

FISHER, ILL.

Dowd, Ralph P., '90. Physician and Surgeon.

FORT MYERS, FLA.

King, Samuel Wurts, '55. Orange Grower.

FRANKLIN, IND.

Adams, John William, '08. Department of Biology, Franklin College.

FRANKLIN, PA.

Jenkins, Thomas, '91. Printer, 11 Sixth Street.

FREMONT, O.

Hall, James M., '89. Attorney, West State Street.

FRUITA, COL.

Tirke, Charles R. S. Farmer and Fruit Grower, R. D. No. 1.

GADSDEN, ALA.

McCulloch, Alva Wright, '96. Business Manager, "E
Court Street.

Devol, Russell
nyon College.

GARRETTSVILLE, O.

anner, Grace Bradford, '09.

GRAND JUNCTION, COL.

Hunter, Mary Gill, '81. Physician and Surgeon, 403 Grand Avenue.

GRASSELLI, IND.

Henry, Francis Beardsley, '04. Assistant Chemist, "The Grasselli Chemical Company."

GUTHRIE, OKLA.

Smith, Charles Clement, '97. Attorney.

GUYSVILLE, O.

Cornell, Daniel W., '63. Retired Merchant.

HAMILTON, O.

McGinley, Lewellyn Davis, '94. Insurance, 210 South D Street.

HARTFORD, CONN.

Dent, Elmer Addison, '88. M. E. Clergyman, 137 Jefferson Street.

HAVANA, CUBA.

Stewart, Charles W., '61. Commission Merchant, P. O. Box 325.

HAYDENVILLE, O.

Hunter, William Archibald, '85. M. E. Clergyman.

Kirkendall, Ella May, '86 (Mrs. W. A. Hunter).

HILLSBORO, N. M.

Wolford, Howard A., '93. Attorney.

HIRAM, O.

Alderman, William Elijah, '09. Graduate Student, Hiram College, and Minister in Christian Church.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.

Eaton, Edith Mildred, '09. 1021 Fifth Street.

Welch, Calvin Simeon, '75. Attorney, 850 Washington Avenue.

HUTCHINSON, KAN.

Maguire, John William, '74. Retired Physician, 329 East Sherman Street

INDIANOLA, IOWA.

Hatfield, John L., '62. Farmer.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

Ballard, Frank Otis, '73. Pastor, Memorial Presbyterian Church, 92
Drive, Woodruff Place.

Boice, ... '60. Attorney, 18½ North Meridian Street.
 Chart, ... Physician, 512 North New Jersey Street.
 Johnson, Frank ... '08. State Student Secretary, Y. M. C. A., 615
 Majestic Bldg.
 McMaster, John Lenc., ... on County, 1733
 Park Avenue.
 Thomas, Orin Gould, '98. Indiana Agent, Atkinson, Mentzer and Grover, 2355 North Delaware Street.
 Walker, Charles Manning, '53. Journalist, 2033 College Avenue.

IOLA, KAN.

Holcomb, Howard K., '92. United States Weather Bureau, 221 South Jefferson Avenue.

IRVINGTON, N. J.

Cornwell, Alma Elizabeth, '98 (Mrs. Eugene V. Tuttle), 44 Lincoln Place.
 Tuttle, Eugene Vivian, '04. Chemist, 44 Lincoln Place.

ITHACA, N. Y.

Bolton, Rudolph Ray, '09. Student Assistant, Department Pathology and Bacteriology, Cornell University, 127 Linden Avenue.
 Johnson, Aldis Adelbert, '08. Assistant in Physiology, Cornell University, 127 Linden Avenue.
 Mayes, Harry Welday, '08. Student, Cornell Medical College, and Assistant in Physiology, 127 Linden Avenue.
 Mayes, James Ray, '09. Student in College of Agriculture, Cornell University, 127 Linden Avenue.

JACKSON, O.

Gillett, Nita Elizabeth, '97 (Mrs. W. J. Shumate), 59 Broad Street.
 Henson, Morris A., '92. Principal of High School.
 Higgins, Winifred Belle, '07. Teacher in High School.
 Jones, Thomas Alfred, '81. Judge, Fourth Judicial Ohio Circuit Court.
 Kinnison, James Edgar, '80. Superintendent of Schools.
 Martin, Catherine Regina, '06. Teacher in Public Schools.
 Shumate, William Jasper, '97. Auditor, Jackson County.
 Thomas, George Grindley, '09. Bank Teller.
 Wilson, Robert Underwood, '82. Attorney.

JAMESTOWN, O.

Hough, Florance Harrison, '09. Graduate Student, Oberlin College.

JONESBORO, GA.

Colvin, Wilber, '80. Superintendent of Schools.

KALAMAZOO, MICH.

... George, '04. Teacher of English, State Normal College.
 Williamson, Frances, '06 (Mrs. George Sprau), 423 South West Street.

KANSAS CITY, MO.

French, Cyrus Othniel, '67. President of Storage and Van Company, Eighth and Troost Avenue.
 Ju ... William G., '82. United States Customs Broker and Claim Agent, 21 Merritt Building.

KINGSTON, O.

Agler, Charles Marshall, '07. Superintendent of Schools.
Kaler, Mary Engle, '02. Principal of High School.

LAKESIDE, O.

Baker, Edith M., '15. Superintendent of Uniontown Schools.

LANCASTER, O.

Conner, Flora Terhune, '04. Chief Nurse, Hospital, Boys' Industrial School.
Hawk, James Finly, '07. Science Teacher, High School.

LAS CRUCES, N. M.

Huhn, William, '09. Merchant.
Roush, Helen Elizabeth, '09 (Mrs. William Huhn).

LAWRENCE, KAN.

St. Clair, Anna Mae, '96. Teacher, Haskell Institute.

LAWRENCEBURG, IND.

Martin, Thomas Adams, '95. Teacher, Mathematics, High School.

LEBANON, O.

Lukens, Joseph Franklin, '66. Teacher, 227 North Broadway.

LEROY, KAN.

Hambleton, Antrum Marion, '03. Teacher.

LEES CREEK, O.

Hedrick, Eli Christian, '04. Teacher.

LOGAN, O.

Bebout, James, '96. County Surveyor of Hocking County.
Lowry, Virgil Costello, '78. Attorney.
Wright, Lucius C., '62. Retired.

LONG POINT, ILL.

Irwin, Rochester, '00. Clergyman, Christian Church.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Bothwell, Walter James, '94. Post Office Clerk, 425 West 59th Street.
Gunneth, Abraham H., '81. M. E. Clergyman and Superintendent of Children's Home Society.

LYNN, MASS.

Morse, Bert Edmund, '99. Engineer in Turbine Department, 61 Linwood Road.

McARTHUR, O.

Coultrap, Henry Wilson, '71. Attorney.

McCONNELLSVILLE, O.

Stanberry, Elias Millen, '57. Attorney and Banker.

MADISON, S. DAK.

Ashton, Charles Sawyer, '93. Editor and Publisher, "Madison Outlook."

MADISON, WIS.

Coe, Adda, '85 (Mrs. E. B. Skinner), 210 Lathrop Street.

Skinner, Ernest E. , '88. Assistant Professor of Mathematics, The University of Wisconsin, 210 Lathrop Street.

MOUNTAIN, UTAH.

Martin, George Washington, '80. Presbyterian Minister.

MARILLET, O.

Thomas, David Hollis, '96. Attorney.

Ullom, Mary, '96 (Mrs. D. H. Thomas), 305 Fourth Street.

MART, TEXAS.

Carpenter, William Bazaliel, '70. Physician.

MATTOON, ILL.

DeLay, David Washington, '68. Retired. 1513 Charleston Avenue.

MEMPHIS, TENN.

Pilcher, John Nelson, '58. Retired M. E. Clergyman, 307 Madison Avenue.

MINERAL, O.

Gibson, Elza Goodspeed, '04. Superintendent of Schools.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Crane, William Her, '00. Representative, D. Appleton Company, 2311 South Humboldt Avenue.

Rutledge, John Wesley, '74. Physician, 2536 Third Avenue South.

MOLINA, COL.

Kirkendall, James A., '86. Bee-keeper, Farmer and Teacher.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.

Waggoner, Chauncey William, '04. Professor of Physics, West Virginia University.

MOUNT VERNON, IOWA.

Boyd, Hugh, '59. Emeritus Professor of Latin, Cornell College.

MT. CLEMENS, MICH.

Norton, Frances Johnson, '91 (Mrs. S. C. Price), 260 Cass Avenue.

Price, Samuel Cheney, '91. Publisher, 260 Cass Avenue.

MURRAY, O.

Christman, George Washington, '06. Teacher.

Dillinger, Thomas Jefferson, '81. Physician.

NEWARK, O.

Cromer, Horace Emerson, '09. Teacher of Mathematics, High School.

NEWCOMERSTOWN, O.

Duff, John Thomas, '70. Editor and Publisher, "Newcomerstown Index."

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. VA.

Ely, George Leonard, '06. Superintendent of Schools.

NEW LEXINGTON, O.

Acker, Herman Frank, '75. Secretary-Treasurer, "The Star Manufacturing Company."

Fowler, James Celwin, '94. State Examiner Public Accounting.
Stine, Oscar, '08. Teacher, English and Science, High School.

NEW YORK CITY.

Baer, Harry, '00. Architectural Engineer, 135 Kent Street, Brooklyn.
Beckett, John Scouller, '07. Assay Chemist, "Fuel Engineering Co.," Room 1101, 59 Pearl Street.
Brown, Clyde, '95. General Solicitor, New York Central Lines, Grand Central Terminal.
Carley, Francis Dighton, '58. Retired, No. 2 Rector Street.
Fuller, Nellie Mary, '01 (Mrs. H. R. Bahrman), 135 Kent Street, Brooklyn.
Houston, Virginia Miller, '99. Teacher of Graduating Class, No. 4 Richmond Borough, 223 Wood Avenue, Tottenville.
Humphrey, Calvin B., '88. Vice President, The White Investing Co., 131 Riverside Drive.
MacVay, Anna Pearl, '92. Classical Teacher, The Wadleigh High School, 329 West 112th Street.
Roach, Minnie Orma, '96. Teacher, 39 East Thirty-first Street.
Schwefel, Caroline, '96 (Mrs. Clyde Brown), Linden Avenue, Larchmont Manor.
Super, Ralph Clewell, '95. Business, 1 Madison Avenue.
Woodworth, Carlos Anderson, '98. Broker, 220 Broadway.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Henson, Clarence Cherrington, '99. Principal, Isadore Newman Training School, 6039 Prytania Street.
Wilson, Blanche Nell, '03 (Mrs. C. C. Henson), 6039 Prytania Street.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.

Leonard, Albert, '88. Superintendent of Schools.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA.

Shott, John Abraham, '92. Professor of Physics and Education, Westminster College.

OLATHE, COL.

McDaniel, John Edmon, '04. Civil Engineer, "Foster and Fleming, Montrose Company."

OMAHA, NEB.

Johnson, Daniel Littleton, '84. Attorney, 600 Bee Building.

ORIENT, O.

Timberman, John Clement, '06. Hardware and Implement Merchant.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA.

Bailey, Elizabeth, '09. Teacher of Mathematics, High School, 635 Madison Avenue.
Casto, David Clayton, '74. Attorney, 816 Quincy Street.
Laird, John Ferguson, '81. Attorney, 1123 Market Street.
McKown, John Smith, '76. Secretary, "Traders' Building Association," 935 Market Street.
Welch, Dudley Woodbridge, '92. Physician and Surgeon, 938 Mardock Avenue

PENDLETON, OREGON.

Batterson, Mayme Alice, '01. Librarian, Public Library.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Parrish, Marshall Fleming, '76. Broker, 6326 Baynton Street.

Ullom, Josephus Tucker, '98. Physician, 24 Carpenter Street, Germantown.

PICKERINGTON, O.

Rowles, Ethel Ellen, '08. Principal of Violet Township High School.

PINE BLUFF, ARK.

Corbin, Joseph Carter, '53. Principal, Merrill Public School, 1821 West Second Avenue.

PITTSBURG, PA.

Bennett, Newman Hall, '99. Physician, 1908 Carson Street.

Blackstone, Wilbert Stanley, '07. Draftsman, Westinghouse Manufacturing and Electric Company, P. O. Box 126, Wilkinsburg.

Heyman, Roscoe Winfield, '07. Salesman, Westinghouse Manufacturing and Electric Company, 432 Franklin Avenue, Wilkinsburg.

Kohberger, Henry P., '99. Physician, 405 Larimer Avenue.

MacVay, Gladys Hattie, '89 (Mrs. Charles E. Skinner), 1309 Singer Place, Wilkinsburg.

MacVay, Bertha Wallace, '93. Teacher, 1309 Singer Place, Wilkinsburg.

White, Clyde W., '09. Teacher, 17 North Second Street, Duquesne.

PLEASANT RIDGE, O.

Adams, Karl Langdon, '09. Civil Engineer.

PLYMOUTH, O.

Carrick, Charles M., '91. Superintendent of Schools.

POMEROY, O.

Vorhes, Austin Workman, '64. Attorney.

PORTSMOUTH, O.

Bright, Pascal Allen, '95. M. E. Clergyman.

Holcomb, Anselm Tupper, '67. Attorney and Coal Operator, 30 East Ninth Street.

Moulton, Frank Warwick, '97. Prosecuting Attorney, Scioto County.

Pake, George L., '84. Secretary, Young Men's Christian Association, Railroad Department.

PRATT, KAN.

Reynolds, John Fletcher, '06. Teacher, Chemistry and Biology, Pratt County High School.

PUEBLO, COL.

Hoffman, Richard Arthur, '69. Field Secretary, Colorado Prison Association.

RACINE, O.

Watkins, Merton Hays, '78. Civil and Mining Engineer.

RAVENSWOOD, W. VA.

Pickens, Reuben B., '76. Farmer, R. F. D. No. 1.

RAWLINS, WYO.

Armstrong, Lawrence E., '94. Attorney.

RICHMOND, IND.

Black, Ma. General Teacher, Commercial Department, High School,
216 North Elgin

Miller, Guy Dolphus Co. Head of Commercial Department, High School.

RIO GRANDE, O.

Boyd, Jane Elliott, '76 (Mrs. J. M. Davis).

Davis, John Merrill, '73. President, Rio Grande College.

RUTLAND, O.

Parker, Frank Halleck, '78. Physician.

Stanley, Archelaus Arthur, '69. Physician.

SAN ANSELMO, CAL.

Day, Thomas Franklin, '76. Professor, Old Testament Interpretation, The San Francisco Theological Seminary.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.

Patrick, Spicer H., '60. Teacher, 318 South Presa Street.

Winter, Samuel Guy, '02. Manager, Real Estate Company, Y. M. C. A. Building.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

Armstrong, Samuel Pressly, '84. Attorney, 120-3 Commercial Block.

Gillilan, Lewis McClellan, '91. Teacher, High School.

MacVay, Lizzie Carl, '86 (Mrs. L. M. Gillilan), 1248 Blaine Avenue.

Riley, Ethel Eleanor, '03. Teacher of Short Hand, High School, Fifth East Hotel.

Taylor, Lucy Mae, '06. Stenographic Department, High School, Fifth East Hotel.

SCRANTON, KAN.

Oliphant, William C., '66. Farmer and Stockman.

SEATTLE, WASH.

De Steiguer, George Emanuel, '84. Attorney, New York Building.

Snider, Charles Raymond, '92. Special Representative, Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., Hotel Stewart.

SHANGHAI, CHINA.

Adams, Evelyn Lyon, '09. Teacher, Miss Jewell's Private School for Missionaries' Children, 39 Quinsan Road.

SIDNEY, O.

Collier, William Parker, '95. Teacher, 1045 West Avenue.

MacVay, Herbert Russell, '90. Superintendent of Schools.

SPOKANE, WASH.

Barton, Anna R., '88 (Mrs. W. Porterfield), 926 Thirteenth Avenue.

STEELVILLE, MO.

Lapp, George Harlan, '02. Principal of High School.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

Humphrey, Henry H., '84. Consulting Electrical and Mechanical Engineer, 1505 Chemical Building.

SUSANVILLE, CAL.

Schofield, Frank Crain, '95. Principal Lassen Elementary School.

TACOMA, WASH.

Young, Edmund Pendleton, '82. Teacher, 2431 South First Street.

TEKAMAH, NEB.

Dixon, Asher Hooper, '09. Superintendent of Schools.

TERRE HAUTE, IND.

Tullis, Don Delano, '98. Pastor, Washington Avenue Presbyterian Church, 1410 South Sixth Street.

Tullis, Flora Blanche, '03. Teacher, 405 Willow Street.

THURMAN, O.

Miller, John Lewis, '97. Farmer.

THURSTON, O.

Merritt, William Schory, '06. Principal of High School.

TOLEDO, O.

Adams, Harry C., '88. Attorney, 2258 Parkwood Avenue.

Coultrap, Floyd Erie, '04. Resident Chief, The Toledo Hospital, 1711 Cherry Street.

Dowd, John Worthington, '69. Member Board Deputy State Supervisors of Elections, Lucas County, 1028 Virginia Street.

Kirkendall, Emmett Royal, '06. Attorney, 1216 Nicholas Building.

MacLane, Arvilla, '00 (Mrs. M. H. Pugh), 117 Twenty-second Street.

TROY, O.

Cookson, Charles W., '95. Superintendent of Schools.

TWINSBURG, O.

Bean, Lonzo Gardner, '99. Student, Dental College.

Hooper, Dollie, '99 (Mrs. L. G. Bean).

UHRICHSVILLE, O.

Baker, Clara Murtland, '82 (Mrs. George W. Reed), 321 East First Street.

Humphrey, Sara Clare, '08. Teacher, German and Latin, High School, 624
North Water Street.

Reed, George Washington, '88. Attorney, 315 North Main Street.

URBANA, ILL.

Porter, Francis Marion, '07. Instructor in Engineering and Drawing, University of Illinois, 711 West Illinois Street.

UTICA, N. Y.

Black, Anna Mildred, '96. Teacher, Utica Free Academy, 101 Elm Street.

VALLEY CITY, N. D.

Lever, Henry Work, '08. Teacher, State Normal College, 311 South Sixth Street.

VANDALIA, O.

Howe, Mary Blanche, '06. Teacher, Butler Township High School.

VICTOR, COL.

Sheldon, Thomas Henry, '00. Chief Clerk, Portland Gold Mining Company, 321 South Fifth Street.

WACO, TEXAS.

Douglas, Stephen Arnold, '94. Teacher, 904 Washington Street.

WARREN, PA.

Conoway, Horace Mann, '92. Pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, 311 Fourth Street.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Cheesman, David G., '81. Clerk, Treasury Department, 1021 Newton St., N. E.
Cranston, Earl, '61. Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, "The Ontario."
Sheppard, Carl Dunkle, '02. Newspaper Correspondent, The Associated Press, Florence Court.

White, Gershom Franklin, '01. Bacteriologist, Department of Agriculture.

Wright, James Otis, '05. Examiner, Patent Office, 109 Patent Office.

WEBSTER GROVE, MO.

Young, Wesley Otis, '65. Physician, 733 Marshall Avenue.

WELLINGTON, O.

Kinnison, Ripley Hoffman, '73. Superintendent of Schools.

WELLSTON, O.

Cobb, Nellie, '97 (Mrs. Pascal A. Bright.)

Hildebrand, Frederick Byron, '09. Teacher, English and History, High School.

Hogan, Timothy S., '95. Attorney.

WICHITA, KAN.

Douglas, Malcolm, '09. Teacher, English and History, High School, 1131 North Market Street.

WILKESVILLE, O.

Booth, Jefferson, '62. Retired Teacher.

WINONA LAKE, IND.

Davis, Perley B., '56. Retired Clergyman, 1301 Ludlow Avenue (Cintrouella, Ala., from November to June).

WORCESTER, MASS.

Matheny, William Alderman, '08. Assistant in Botany, Clark College. Senior Fellow, Clark University.

Nice, Leonard Blaine, '08. Teacher and Student, Clark University, 32 Lovell
Street.

XENIA, O.

White, John Alexander, '74. M. E. Clergyman, 321 East Third Street.

ZALESKI, O.

Westervelt, William Alfred, '91. Physician.

ZANESVILLE, O.

- Coultrap, Bernice Hughes, '08. Teacher, High School, 163 North Seventh Street.
Elliott, George Anderson, '93. Law Student, Room 5, Southard Building.
Hastings, Laura Matilda, '00. Primary Teacher, Dresden Road.
Higgins, Charles Henry, '87. Physician, 42 North Seventh Street.
Porter, Frank. Teacher, High School, 658 West Main Street.
Smith, Thomas Maynard, '04. Teacher, Mathematics, High School.
White, Thomas Bruce, '86. Pastor, South Street Methodist Church, 44 South Sixth Street.

UNVERIFIED LIST OF ALUMNI.

- Atkinson, Henry T., '65. 175 Claremont Avenue, New York City.
Hooper, Rudolph L., '78. Whittier, California.
Johnson, Sidney Huntington, '90. Trimble, Ohio.
McFarland, Thomas A., '94. 2122 Fourth Ave., Birmingham, Ala.
Michael, Lillian Elizabeth, '84. Goshen, Ind.
Murayama, Saki Taro, '95. No. 1 Fukuyoshi cho, Akasaka, Tokio, Japan.

The above names appeared in the Alumni Bulletin of 1909. The following have never been verified since the organization of the Alumni Department.

- 1851 Hugh James Campbell, 10 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.
1852 Francis Herron Williams, Memphis, Tenn.
1863 John Henry Bowden, Greensburg, Pa.
1866 Julius S. Smith, Grand Island, Neb.
1868 Alexander Chambers Gibson, Lincoln, Neb.
1872 Clement Ross Long, 18 East Seventeenth Street, New York City.
1876 Francis L. Henry, San Diego, Cal.
1877 Samuel L. Shepherd, Bristow, Okla.
1879 William A. Longbon, Marion, O.
1880 L. B. C. Kirkendall, Fruita, Col.
1887 Thomas W. Dick, Chicago, Ill.
1889 J. Cross Thomas, Michigamme, Mich.
1890 John M. Johnson, Fort Worth, Texas.
1893 Lon. C. Walker, Palo Alto, Cal.
1902 Howard Shepherd Paine, Rochester, Minn.
1906 Fred Shaw, Lane Theological Seminary, Cincinnati, O.
1909 Howard Blane Johnson, Plants, O.

1904.

- Bishop, Minnie Grace, Warren, O. (Unverified.)
Cranmer, Lucy Aretha, Middletown, O. (Unverified.)
Glanque, Niva Grace, 138 Park Avenue, Coshocton, O.
McLaughlin, Mary, Anna, Ill. (Unverified.)
Templer, May, Palestine, O.

1905.

- Mills, Lena Irene, Middletown, O. (Unverified.)
Nesbitt, Anna Margaret, 4109 Franklin Street, Bellaire, O.
Rine, Bernice Clifton (Mrs. Charles B. Rairdon), 620 Greenwood Avenue, Toledo, O.
Witters, Bertha E. (Mrs. M. M. Brown), Belmont, O.

1906.

Buchanan, Edith Amanda, Athens, O. (Unverified.)
McBride, Jessie Enile, Naples, Cal.
Niman, Ida Augusta, Aurora, O.
Somerville, Grace, Orwell, O. (Unverified.)
Thompson, Ida May, Athens, O. (Unverified.)
Winzeler, Alta Evelyn, Steubenville, O. (Unverified.)

1907.

Duga, Nettie Sara, 4805 Guernsey Street, Bellaire, O.
Glazer, Mary Katherine, 318 Washington Avenue, Warren, O.
Halstead, Ruby Clara, Warren, O. (Unverified.)
Harmon, Elizabeth Adella (Mrs. W. S. Blackstone), Mantua, O.
Hudson, Myrtle, Ashville, O. (Unverified.)
McGee, Allie Fidelia, 527 South Young Street, Middletown, O.
Pelton, Gladys M., 605 North Fifth Street, Steubenville, O.
Richmond, Winifred Vanderbilt, Athens, O.
Teaters, Elizabeth, 131 South Plum Street, Troy, O.

1908.

Buchan, Mary Lloyd, Mingo Junction, O.
Campbell, Helen Martyn, Dresden Road, Zanesville, O.
Davis, Madora, Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, O.
Davis, Theora, Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, O.
Edwards, Bernice C., Garrettsville, O.
Hammond, Ernest, Athens, O. (Unverified.)
Hoopes, Laura May, 372 Main Street, Ashtabula, O.
Keck, Blanche Ione, Montpelier, O.
McLaughlin, Emma, 119 North College Street, Akron, O.
Morris, Leota Blanche, 44 West State Street, Athens, O.
Secoy, Mary Elizabeth, 63 East Mill Street, Athens, O.
States, Dora Alice, Institution for Blind, Louisville, Ky.
Voegtly, Nelle Leona, Athens, O.

1909.

Collins, Frances Pauline, 374 East Buchtel Avenue, Akron, O.
Faris, Lillie Anne, Corner Ninth and Cutter Streets, Cincinnati, O.
Gross, Haidee Coral, Leesburg, O.
Henry, Anna Elizabeth, 2 Middle Drive, Ashtabula, O.
Herrold, Grace May, Mingo Junction, O.
Love, Cora Bell, 412 King Avenue, Lancaster, O.
Rogers, Cora May, Athens, O.
Thompson, Edna Lucile, 412 King Avenue, Lancaster, O.
Wileox, Julia Ida, R. F. D. No. 7, Hudson, O.
Wilson, Grace, Athens, O.

Note: There are Graduates of the above Course, who subsequently graduated in the four-year classes and received the Bachelor's Degree. Their names are found with the regular Alumni.

Semi-Centennial Class

(1860)

---

---

WILLIAM HARVEY GLENN ADNEY.

“Brave, courteous, knightly,” is the testimony of his fellow-student, Earl Cranston.

“A man of unusual strength of mind,” wrote his friend, Eugene Brisson, of North Carolina.

“He was a worthy son of Ohio University—a Christian scholar, soldier, and man,” is the evidence of James M. Rees, St. Clairsville, Ohio.

“He was as fine a fellow as ever lived, and a great scholar,” says Mr. Charles Glines, of Marietta, Ohio.

“One of Nature’s noblemen,” is the verdict of his class-mate, Spicer H. Patrick.

The above are illustrations of the universal statements made concerning this member of the Class of 1860, by his class-mates, associates, comrades and friends. It is certainly a beautiful tribute to the life of one when, after the lapse of half a century, the uniform testimony should accord him such a high place among men.

William Harvey Glenn Adney was an Ohio boy, for it was near the hamlet of Vinton, among the hills of Gallia county, that he was born, April 23, 1834. His great grand-father was Thomas Adney, of a respectable London and Shropshire family. Educated as a civil engineer, and possessing superior talents, he came to America before the Revolutionary war, at the age of nineteen, in a ship upon which he had been kidnapped from a London dock, and was landed at Charleston. Here, chagrin and a spirit of adventure detaining him, he never returned to his home and family, but, marrying a lately arrived Scotch-Irish woman, he moved finally to western Virginia and founded a somewhat numerous family,—the only one of the name in America.

John Adney, the eldest son, was a pioneer of Miami County, Ohio, but being forced to flee eastward on account of Indian hostilities, settled on Raccoon Creek, where he built and owned the first flouring mill in that part of Ohio. His son was Captain Jonathan Adney, born in Virginia, but he lived and died in Gallia County. The latter was a man of uncommon activity, a successful farmer, and in the community where he was for many years captain of the militia and township trustee, was highly esteemed for his integrity, and famed for his wit. His wife was Electa Glenn. To them was born, in a log cabin, two and a half miles north of Vinton, Glenn Adney, the eldest in a family of six sons and five daughters.

Attaining his growth early, standing six feet, four inches tall, slender, but of unusual physical strength, he early manifested a quiet love of nature and a taste for letters as well as the exact sciences. A strong will, lofty purpose and purity of motive are plainly shown in some youthful journals that he kept merely for the sake of cultivating the habit of method and facility of expression, and fortunately are preserved. A young man without any assistance except the encouragement of friends and a high spirited mother, faces the problem of education; it being no discouragement of his father’s high character to say, however, that, like many other of his time, whose life had been that of the pioneer with axe and rifle, did not deem necessary more book education than might be obtained in the district school, hence lent him no encouragement or assistance. After working for a while in a saw-mill and clerking in a store at Vinton, young Adney qualified as a teacher, taught district school near home for two years, 1854-55, and with the money thus saved was able to write in his diary, May 10, 1856, the day he entered Pomeroy Academy, "I have decided to go to school."

Becoming a favorite of the principal, Professor A. A. Keen, that gentleman, upon taking a professorship at Medford, Mass., offered to pay the young man's expenses if he would go with him to the east. Tempting as the offer was, he decided to come to the Ohio University, at Athens, where he entered in the fall of 1857. By the end of the spring term he had so far made up his studies that he was enrolled as a sophomore. Adney's room was in the old Center building, where, with a room-mate, he prepared their frugal meals, a practice begun at the dictates of strictest economy, and continued upon discovering that with an early cold bath and a run around the campus before breakfast, they were stimulated to better mental and physical strain. There are yet students of that time who remember the tall, slender, active young man, who threw intense but well restrained enthusiasm into whatever he deemed worthy of undertaking. Maintaining his own in the discussions of the Philomathian Society, of which he was for a time president, it is also recalled that he shares with Governor John Brough the distinction of kicking the foot-ball across Center building.

Adney has sometimes been referred to as the student who took the course in two years—not literally, but substantially, true, for in the three years that he was a student at Ohio University he lost several terms by being obliged to teach school to supply him with funds for the very necessities of life and for books. He found time to edit and practically write a college paper at one time, and yet was able in his journals to record in interesting detail the college life. In a class of able men he graduated with honors and as valedictorian. He manifested rare talent for imparting knowledge and arousing enthusiasm among his students. Teaching was his profession throughout life, to the aid of which he brought a lively interest in a wide range of subjects. His first position after graduation was as superintendent of the Harmar (now West Marietta) schools. The year of graduation witnessed his marriage to Miss Lucy Wiatt, of Amesville, Athens County. Her death occurred only four months later under tragic circumstances.

The Civil War breaking out, he at once raised a company of soldiers from about his old home and also from Athens County. He was elected the captain, and the company was mustered into the United States Army on the 26th of August, 1861, as Company B, 36th Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He served gallantly with his regiment throughout its four years of active service, sharing the splendid reputation it gained as a fighting regiment at South Mountain, Antietam, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, and on many other hard fought fields in Cox's "Kanawha Division" of the Army of the Cumberland, and in Crook's Army of West Virginia. He was promoted to the rank of Major on September 17, 1862, and Lieutenant Colonel May 9, 1864. During the action of September 19, 1864, at Opequan, Virginia, he assumed command of the regiment and continued its commander in the ensuing battles of Fisher's Hill and Cedar Creek, and upon its retirement into winter quarters at Cumberland, where active service ended, he was instructor in the brigade school for officers, and part of the time in command of the brigade. He was twice wounded, once quite seriously, in the famous charge of Turchin's Brigade at Chickamauga, September 19, 1863. Upon the consolidation of the 34th and 36th Ohio Regiments, he resigned from the service, and being discharged February 28, 1865, proceeded to Ohio in time, however, to miss the appointment tendered him by the governor, as Provost Marshal of the 11th District, Southern Ohio.

After the close of the war he took his A. M. degree at the Ohio University, and in the fall of 1865 became principal of the Preparatory Department, which he held until 1868, when, upon the removal of Professor Tappan to the presidency of Kenyon College, he took the chair of Mathematics, lecturing also on Belles Lettres. When the chair of Natural Sciences became vacant in 1872, his strong bent in that direction led him to change to that professorship. Always active in educational matters, he was the first president of the Athens County Teachers' Institute; clerk of the Board of Education; County Examiner; secretary of the Faculty; curator of the Museum, and one of the organizers of the Athens Reading Club.

It is perhaps worthy of note, that it was in the class of Professor Adney, while in the Preparatory Department, that the first "woman student" was admitted to the class-rooms of the Ohio University. She was, as is well known, Miss Margaret Boyd, of Athens, and was known merely as "Professor Adney's pupil," but subsequently the faculty took action, substantially acknowledging her as a student of the University.

The circumstances, which may not heretofore have been made known, are as follows:

Mr. Hugh Boyd of Athens was desirous that his sister, Margaret, should have a college education, but the "ladies' seminaries" of that time being below what he considered their standard should be, he and Professor Adney discussed the matter, and the latter decided to take his friend's sister as a pupil. It was known, however, that there existed a strong feeling against women attending the same college as men, a prejudice not confined to the towns-people, but the faculty as well, and it was thought that if formal application were made, it would almost certainly be refused. Miss Boyd accordingly took a part of a term privately for preparation, then entered the Senior grade Preparatory as a "private pupil." In the catalogue of that year, 1868, her name is entered simply as "M. Boyd." But the next year the catalogue stated "Miss Boyd." The second woman student was Miss Boyd's niece, Miss Ella Boyd. Such was the beginning of co-education at Ohio University.

His public lectures were upon such subjects as "Exactness in the Use of Words," "The Force of Ideas in the Making of History," "The History of the Waldenses," "The Law of Service," "Spectrum Analysis," etc. He was a Presbyterian and a Beta Theta Pi. At the opening of the Ohio State University at Columbus, he was tendered the chair of Mathematics and Military Tactics. His second wife was Miss Ruth Clementine Shaw, of Waterford, Washington County, Ohio, whom he married November 17, 1865. In 1872 affairs at Athens were at a very low ebb. In these dark days he and a few others practically carried along the affairs of the college. There wasn't enough money to repair the fence to keep the cows out of the campus. Under these conditions, Professor Adney reluctantly resolved to leave the institution. He accepted the new professorship of Agriculture and Correlative Branches—Natural Science—at Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pennsylvania. Here he became vice president of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society, and organizer and the first secretary of the Pennsylvania Wool Growers' Association.

Although leading an active life, the injuries he received in the war had long before he left Athens, and indeed while yet in the army, begun to undermine his remarkably robust constitution, until, believing that in an entirely out-door life lay his only hope, and finding the climate of Pennsylvania unsuited to his wife's health, he purchased Cum Spring plantation, near Pittsboro, North Carolina, removed his family there in 1879, and in the following year moved there himself. But so far from finding improvement, he became, as he wrote north to his old physician, "decidedly worse than before." Grievously disappointed at the failure of his friends in the South to secure for him the then vacant position of Professor of Natural Sciences at the University of North Carolina, he taught school, at first as principal of the Goldsboro schools and afterwards at Pittsboro Academy, finally settling down upon the farm, where, early in June, 1885, while passing through a field and stopping to pet a young bull which he had raised, not suspecting him to be vicious, the animal gave him a hook, not of a serious character at all, as there was no visible injury whatever, but as a result of his physical condition, and obviously from his war injuries, he died June 23, 1885, at the age of fifty-one, universally mourned.

He left two children, Edwin Tappan, born at Athens, July 13, 1868, and Mary Ruth, born September 25, 1869, now Mrs. Charles Wyeth of New York. A daughter, Lucy Hamlin, died in infancy. The son now lives at Woodstock, New Brunswick, Canada. He is an artist of recognition, whose productions are sought after by the best publishing houses.

HARRISON GILLILAND.

(1860)

Harrison Gilliland belonged to one of the pioneer families of Jackson County, Ohio. His father first located in one of the northern counties of Ohio, but game being scarce there, he brought his family to Hamilton township, Jackson County, in the early "thirties." Here the subject of this sketch was born, January 19, 1837. Mr. Gilliland's early educational opportunities were of course meagre. The pioneer school of southern Ohio did not exist as a college preparatory school.

In May, 1855, a party of young men drove by wagon from Jackson County to Athens, for the purpose of entering the Ohio University. They brought their provisions with them. The party comprised Dr. T. E. Griffith, Eben Jones, Thomas Jones and Harrison Gilliland.

During Mr. Gilliland's stay at Ohio University he was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. The first years after graduation he taught school in Jackson County. In 1863-4 he was professor of Ancient Languages and Mathematics at Battle-Ground Institute, Tippecanoe Battle-Ground, Indiana. For one year he was Professor of Languages in a Pittsburg female college. In 1865 he became president of Galesville University, now Gale College, Galesville, Wisconsin. This position he held for twelve years, resigning in 1877.

Two years later he was admitted to the Wisconsin bar and began the practice of law. His health failing, he went to California in 1886, locating at Los Angeles. Later he purchased a fruit and alfalfa farm, at Burbank, that state, and here his death occurred April 11, 1905.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and took an active interest in all phases of church activities. Frequently he occupied the pulpit as a lay preacher. Mr. Gilliland was twice married. The second Mrs. Gilliland now resides at Burbank, California.

DAVID HASTINGS MOORE.

(1860.)

No alumnus of the Ohio University has become more widely or favorably known than David Hastings Moore. Athens has given Ohio and the country some notable men, but no man of them all has done more to bless humanity than this Methodist Bishop, who, having traveled the world around and won many honors, is still at heart an Athenian, whose chest expands just a little when he says: "I was born on Margaret's Creek, near Athens."

The date of that auspicious event was September 4, 1838. His parents having taken up residence in the town, he entered the University at seventeen and graduated in his twenty-second year. Ardent in temperament, brimful of good fellowship, abounding in vital force, the only child of doting parents whose resources and high social position might have been the occasion of peril to such a nature as his, it stands more to his credit that his student life was absolutely clean and his records well maintained.

His graduation and marriage, (which occurred on consecutive days), were happy public events in which the entire community felt a genuine satisfaction, because he was everybody's David, beloved and respected by faculty, students and towns-people. Never an athlete, yet his onslaught in the scrimmage of old-time foot-ball, or when he rushed a comrade for a tussle, was something to be remembered. As a literary society and fraternity man, he was not only loyal to his own, but so honorable to rival societies that he would expose treachery against them rather than have his own society profit by an act of betrayal.

With these high ideals and an enthusiasm that coveted battle, he entered the Methodist ministry. He was born for that militant host. The "circuit" had no terrors for him. He asked no favors as the son of his father. His success was immediate. He passed rapidly by merit, towards the better appointments. That graceful, captivating oratory which had made him the pride of the Athenian Society, and his remarkable gift of extemporaneous speech that has become known the world around, easily made him the master of assemblies.

His manner is frank, hearty and unaffected. His humor is always wholesome.

His contact with men is warmly appreciative and sympathetic. He is prompt and courageous in denunciation of wrong in high places or low. His industry in study and in official duty is untiring. He is up to date in literature as well as in church and social affairs. His aptness in utterance on special occasions, serious or festive, educational or religious, is remarkable. When was he ever at a loss for the right word, however unexpected the call?

Probably no other man in his day has made so many people of various circles and conditions feel that he was their personal friend. From the section-hand on the railroad, the cowboy on the plains, to the banker, the jurist, the educator and the political leader, he cultivates men out of pure good will and great heartedness. Never obtruding his religious opinions, never boasting his spiritual attainments, his robust faith is nevertheless readily discovered, and his manly allegiance to Christ and the doctrines of his own chosen church always apparent. He is a fighter rather than a compromiser, a soldier rather than a lawyer, adventurous rather than cautious. He has won many a battle while timid tacticians were considering the expediency of risking an engagement.

Such a man could not play chaplain when there was need of captains. Out of the pulpit to the front he went on Lincoln's call. Surrendered with his comrades at Harper's Ferry, he turned up a Lieutenant-colonel at Knoxville and Resaca and Rocky Face Ridge. His complete record is not at hand, but it was honorable and certified at last by Confederate lead.

It was inevitable that such a man should be called to more conspicuous service than a local pastorate. From Trinity Church, Cincinnati, he was taken to the presidency of Wesleyan College in that city, and from there, after five years of successful administration, elected to the headship of Denver University as its first chancellor. He found there bare floors and naked walls. An ordinary, self-centered man would have been dismayed at the condition which confronted him. Starting with no furniture, no endowment, no student body, no faculty, until he should create all out of his own resources—which consisted of his individual heart and brain, an indomitable courage, mighty faith in God, and a wife ready to share his destiny—he made the University what it became in five years, a recognized institution of high grade, enjoying the good will of the people of the state, with an enthusiastic student body, and an outlook that warranted the trustees in assuming the financial responsibility for its future, Chancellor Moore was the inspirational leader, and his hospitality made the University the rallying center of the forces of his denomination throughout the Conference. The self-imposed task almost cost him his life at one crisis, but he faltered not once, nor gave forth one cry of distress. The friends of the cause could not abandon such a leader to his fate. The preachers loved him, the people revered him, the students idolized him. A strong movement was projected to make him Governor of the state, and out of this grew the irritations that finally led to his resignation.

The regents of the State University at once called him to the chair of Political Economy, but almost before he was seated he was elected editor of the Western Christian Advocate in Cincinnati. In this highly important and influential post he continued until 1900, when he was one of the two men chosen for the highest office in his church. As an editor he was progressive and not afraid of new departures in religious journalism. He championed the cause of the negro, and was an aggressive leader of the movement to allow women in the General Conference. He repressed his friends, who wished to make him bishop sooner, by insisting that he would rather be where he could use the lance than to wear the mitre.

There is just enough of the Irish in Dr. Moore to "enjoy a scrap," yet no man would do more to serve an antagonist. His magnanimity is equal to his courage. His nature is characteristically chivalric.

He could not be mean even to an enemy. As a bishop his contentions are not exciting. Wrestling with church debts is to him a sort of recreation. Fighting his way up the rapids of the Yangtse for weeks was a congenial diversion. Jousts with his colleagues he enjoys, but he never fights a man whose gloves are lighter than his own. His later years are likely to be tranquil save when the music of fife and drum, or the memory of that naval battle at Chemulpo, sets his blood agoing and his nerves to tingling—and then he will thrill some assembly with the recital of it, or fire some conference for hot combat by his eloquent marshaling of militant leaders who never knew defeat.

His degrees? O, yes! He has a string of them; but the man is so human and yet so true, so natural and yet so spiritual, so gentle and yet so virile, so modest and yet so large, that no one ever calls for his credentials of scholarship. They would be in the way. He never flaunts them—why belittle his achievements by classing him with men who are lost in their titular appendages? His company called him captain. His regiment called him colonel. Several colleges have dubbed him doctor—with variations. But a thousand men speak of him as Uncle David; and his wife, who knows him and loves him best, calls him simply “D.” All hail to his Alma Mater! Happy the bright little city that holds his heart and his home. Blessed the church that honors such a man and commands his homage.

EARL CRANSTON, '61.

SPICER H. PATRICK.

(1860.)

Among the many sons sent by the Old Dominion to the halls of the Ohio University was Spicer H. Patrick, another member of the Class of 1860. He was born in Charleston, now in West Virginia, December 2, 1838. The date of his matriculation at the Ohio University was in September, 1856. After five years of attendance he received the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

At the time of his graduation the Civil War was imminent, and he returned to his state and followed the fortunes of the Confederacy, serving in the ranks as a private for three years.

His life's work has been that of teacher. For five years he was Superintendent of Schools at Charleston, West Virginia. Three years he occupied a similar position at Mason City, in the same state. In 1884 he went to Texas, becoming the president of the college at Jasper. From here he removed to San Antonio, where for ten years he served as principal of the schools. He yet lives in that city and is still a teacher.

JASPER AUGUSTUS SMITH.

(1860.)

The subject of this sketch was born near Dawkin's Mills, Washington County, Ohio, May 30, 1834. His mother died while still young. Removing to Jackson County, Ohio, he spent his early life on a farm, enjoying the educational advantages afforded by the schools of that time.

He matriculated at the Ohio University in 1855. It was during his student days that he concluded to enter the ministry. At graduation he received the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

But the Civil War was at hand, and, like thousands of young collegians throughout the land, he promptly responded to the call of his country. He organized a company of volunteers, of which he became captain. He was assigned to duty in the Second Virginia Cavalry and served with distinction during the greater part of the war. Once he was captured and was being taken to Libby Prison, but he succeeded in escaping.

After the close of the war he engaged in educational work. The various positions held as teacher were principal of the Gallipolis, Ohio, schools; principal of the schools at Independence, Missouri, 1866-68. In 1873 he entered the St. Louis Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Here he worked for ten years as preacher and teacher. His educational work was as head of the Marionville Collegiate Institute in Lawrence County, Missouri. This position he held for six years.

His last labors were connected with the Pauline Holiness College, at College Mound, Missouri. He was the president of this institution for four years, 1883-87. Moving to Canyon City, Colorado, he found the locality very uncongenial as a home, and he returned to Carthage, Missouri, where he meant to retire from active duties. It was while engaged in building his new home that he was stricken with spinal meningitis, and four weeks later, April 29, 1889, he died.

The family life of Mr. Smith was a happy one. His wife was Miss Martha Jenks, of Jackson, Ohio, whom he married June, 1861. She now resides with her daughter, Miss V. May Smith, in Boulder, Colorado. The eldest daughter, Mrs. Elmer S. Farwell, lives at Nutley, New Jersey. The oldest son, J. Merrit Smith, is manager of the Electric Light and Power Company, Corinth, New York. The youngest daughter, Grace Celeste, died in 1903.

A biographer who knew him has this to say of the personal life of Mr. Smith:

“He had lived a faithful, earnest, Christian life—inspiring those around him, especially the student life, to make the most of present opportunities if ambitious for greater things.”

A local paper of College Mound, Missouri, stated at the time of Mr. Smith's death:

“His earnest and conscientious work at College Mound as President of the College is well known, and his presence has been missed since his departure.”

Alumni Who Died in 1909

---

---

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN MIESSE.

(1861.)

Dr. Frank Miesse gone! Even those of us who know it best feel like saying, "And is he no more among us?" It is difficult to think of those kindly, genial personalities, that we have known and loved for so many years, as being no more on the earth. This is especially so of Dr. Miesse. It seems as though we ought to see again his familiar face; to hear his mellow voice; to note the merry twinkle of his eye; to observe and admire the gentlemanly bearing of his manly form. But not here! Not now! He was in body, mind and soul, in many respects, a model man; but we look in vain for him among his familiar haunts. He has gone on a long journey, from which he will not return.

Benjamin Franklin Miesse was born in Delaware, Ohio, March 6th, 1841. His father was Dr. Benjamin Miesse, a graduate of the Pennsylvania Medical College. His ancestors came from Prussia and settled in Pennsylvania before the Revolutionary War. There were several physicians among them. It was natural that this young man's attention should be turned to medicine.

In the Fall of 1856, he matriculated in the Ohio University at Athens, Ohio, and he graduated as a Bachelor of Science in June, 1861. He was an ardent member of the Athenian Literary Society while in college, and he never lost his interest in "The Athenians." He was proud to be remembered as one of the most loyal members of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, and to him there were no other "Greeks" that ranked quite up to the "Deltas." He had a good record as a student in college, and, while there laid the foundation of a liberal education that followed not only the lines of his chosen profession, medicine, but, by means of his life-long habits of study, he became well versed in science, literature, history and theology.

He began the study of medicine with his uncle, the late Jonathan Miesse, M. D., in Chillicothe, Ohio, shortly after his graduation from the Ohio University. Later he entered Bellevue Hospital, New York City, where he graduated with the degree of Doctor of Medicine, in March, 1865. Previous to this, however, he had considerable experience in army life having served as hospital nurse in the Vicksburg campaign and assistant surgeon of the 149th Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, during the year 1864. He also took a special course in the New York Ophthalmic Hospital School of Medicine.

He pursued the practice of medicine in Chillicothe from 1865 for over forty years, until poor health prevented him from continuing his work. He was health officer of his home city for two years, rendering excellent service during the trying time of the smallpox epidemic in 1866-7. He was a member of the school board for several years, and he always took a deep interest in the educational, as well as the material and moral welfare of Chillicothe.

Dr. Miesse's home life was happy. He was married to Miss Sarah A. Rapel in 1866. To this union six children were born, of whom five are living, viz: Miss Ida, Dr. Charles and Miss Florence of Chillicothe; Dr. Oscar of Columbus, and Frank of New York City. In this connection we think it appropriate to quote a sentence or two written by the one who knew him best, and who misses him most: 'Dr. Miesse left a good name, a good life, for his boys to emulate, and his friends will cherish his dear memory. His labors of love and the impress of his strong character will not be silenced, although he has gone a little while away."

Dr. Miesse was an extensive traveller. Among the journeys he took, those he appreciated most and spoke of the oftenest, were a six-months' tour of the continent of Europe in 1878, and his longer journey in 1887 to the Orient, in which he went to Egypt, up the Nile, and made a complete horseback journey through Palestine. Few tourists, if any, ever visited the Holy Land with a deeper sense of reverence and appreciation than did Dr. Miesse.

He was a lifelong member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and he had been for many years one of the officers of Trinity Church, Chillicothe. He read his Bible much and well. He was interested in spiritual things. He believed in personal religious experience. He was always solicitous about the welfare of the church.

He passed away June 3rd, 1909, in the 69th year of his age. His pastor, Rev. A. J. Hawk, and a former pastor, who had known him from his college days and who had officiated at his marriage in his young manhood, Dr. W. H. Scott of Columbus, conducted the funeral services. Both ministers, like the deceased, were Alumni of the Ohio University. Members of Chillicothe Commandery, Knights Templars; of Sereno Lodge, Knights of Pythias; of the Grand Army Post; of Trinity M. E. Church, and of the medical profession, to all of which the deceased belonged, and many other friends and neighbors attended the services. These services were simple and unostentatious, the kind he liked best, and consisted of Scripture lesson, prayer, the reading of a favorite hymn, "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand," and words of appreciation and comfort. The interment was in the beautiful and historic Grandview Cemetery, overlooking the fertile valleys of Paint Creek and the Scioto River and the city of Chillicothe, the scene of the good doctor's activities and successes.

ADAM JAMES HAWK. '79.

GEORGE WASHINGTON BOYCE.

(1867.)

It has seldom fallen to the lot of an alumnus of the Ohio University to render her so large and useful a service as that of Mr. Boyce; and few of her sons, therefore, are so well entitled to be remembered by those who cherish her traditions and desire her welfare.

Mr. Boyce was born at Wellsville, Ohio, May 3, 1840. His parents, Isaac and Jane (Brady) Boyce, were of Protestant Irish descent, and George inherited much of the vivacity and warmth of the Irish temperament. While he was but a small boy his parents removed to Carthage Township, Athens County where they settled on a farm. Here he remained, performing such labors as usually fall to boys in farm life, and enduring the hardships and privations of a somewhat primitive condition, until he was seventeen years old. His school privileges during this time were those of the country district school of half a century ago. Among the popular institutions of the time was the spelling school, which often took the form of a contest between two schools in neighboring districts. It was in such spelling schools that George Boyce first met Fletcher Boyd, a boy who lived about five miles from young Boyce's home. How little either of them dreamed of that close and abiding friendship which was to be so great a factor in their future!

At the age of seventeen Mr. Boyce became the teacher of a district school; and the next year he went to Coolville Academy. Here he paid part of his expenses by teaching some of the lower classes while pushing forward his own education in more advanced studies.

In 1861 he entered the Ohio Wesleyan University, but finding the expense greater than he thought he could afford, he remained but a single term. The following year he became a student at the Ohio University. During his first term here his board cost him but $11.00. He had to earn nearly all the money required to meet his expenses during his course, till he reached the senior year. This he did by manual labor in the summer vacations and by teaching a district school. As the latter involved his absence from college, he made up a part of the loss by private study and a part by extra work after his return. In the last year of the course, however, he was relieved of the strain of self-support by the kindness of a friend who lent him money. As a student he was diligent and earnest. He was in college for a purpose, and at great sacrifice to himself and others. Study was therefore a serious business with him. He felt that no time must be lost, no opportunity wasted.

Any account of his college days would be incomplete which failed to record the encouragement and support which he received from his mother. It was her persuasion that obtained his father's consent to his leaving the farm. She made most, if not all, the clothes that he took with him; and so far as opportunity permitted she kept them in repair. Whenever he returned to the University at the close of a visit at home, she furnished him with a supply of provisions. He never forgot how much he owed to her loving sympathy with his ambitions and her ever-ready and practical assistance; and he never failed to express his appreciation and gratitude.

He took his baccalaureate degree in 1867. But with all his economy he graduated under a heavy debt; and he now made it his first business to discharge his financial obligation. For this purpose he opened a school near Guysville, Athens County, which became known as "Boyce's Academy." He secured the use of a church for a school house, and canvassed the surrounding country in every direction for students. He visited every family in which there were children of school age, making himself and his enterprise immensely popular. When the day came for opening the pupils poured in by every road, and the building was packed. Some small buildings had been put up for students who came from a distance to lodge in; but they were soon filled, and the neighbors were called on to receive students into their houses. Mr. Boyce was in his element. From early morning till late at night he was busy enrolling and quartering students, assigning lessons, giving information and advice. and solving the thousand urgent problems of the situation. His good nature and enthusiasm were contagious, and, though some murmured and a few went away, nearly everybody was not merely patient, but full of expectation and good humor. The discomforts and privations, like those of a picnic, only lent zest to the occasion.

Mr. Boyce conducted the school through the year to the satisfaction of his patrons and to his own financial profit. His income had been equal to that of the president of the University, and he was able to pay off his entire indebtedness. Before the beginning of the second year he took Mr. B. N. Sanders, '68, as an associate, and they conducted the school together the first term. Then Mr. Boyce withdrew in order to enter the Cincinnati Law School.

When he went to Cincinnati he was accompanied by Mr. W. F. Boyd, his old-time acquaintance of the country spelling-school, who had also been his fellow-student at the University. They entered the law school together, and boarded and roomed together. As both of them had devoted considerable attention to law studies before coming to the school, they were able to take their degrees in 1869, at the end of one year. On graduation they immediately formed a partnership in law and opened an office in Cincinnati. At first they had desk room at No. 3 West Third street, but in 1870 they removed to the northeast corner of Fourth and Walnut streets, where they retained offices for thirty years. About ten years ago they took better rooms on the southwest corner of the same streets. This partnership continued without interruption till it was closed by the death of Mr. Boyce in 1909, a period of forty years.

In 1873 Mr. Boyce was elected a member of the House of Representatives of Ohio. He appreciated the honor which the office conferred and sought to perform all its obligations efficiently and worthily. But nothing connected with it gave him so much satisfaction as the opportunity it afforded him to render important service to his Alma Mater. The first act of this service was the introduction of a bill which provided that the state should refund to the University all the taxes that she had collected from those owners of the leasehold lands of the University who had surrendered their leases and taken deeds in fee simple, "with interest on the same since it was so paid in." The argument for the measure was short and clear: The lands belonged to the University by an act of Congress passed before the state had an existence, and the state that was to be made the trustee for the organization of the University and the administration of its affairs. In the act establishing the University the state had empowered it to collect a certain rent and an additional rent equal to the state taxes, and she had her self refrained from collecting any tax from the lands as long as they remained under lease. She thus acknowledged her relations to be that of a trustee, a relation which forbids the holder to derive any profit from the trust which he administers. Therefore, in collecting taxes on such of the lands of the University as had been changed from a leasehold title to a title in fee simple, the state had violated her obligation as a trustee. The force of this reasoning was recognized by the General Assembly, and the bill passed March 25, 1875.

But the argument was double-edged. We were met with the question, "Why does not the University collect the equal amount to which it is entitled on those of its lands which still remain under lease?" To this no answer could be given, except that it never had been collected and that the trustees of the University were loth to arouse the opposition of the lessees by such action at so late a day. "Very well, then," we were told, "let them be required to do it;" and it was only on the assurance that a bill to that effect would be introduced that some of the members were induced to vote for the first bill.

So Mr. Boyce introduced a second bill requiring the trustees of the University "to demand and collect said rents," that is, "the additional rent equal to the state taxes." This measure excited warm and determined opposition among the lessees. Meetings were held, petitions were circulated, and delegations were sent to Columbus to work for its defeat. Mr. Boyce was besieged by argument and appeal and occasional threat. He received it all with hearty good nature, but stood like a rock. Indeed, the opposition only roused him to greater zeal. Fully convinced of the justice of the measure, and fully determined that the University in its need should receive what was so clearly its due, he fairly glowed with enthusiasm. His popularity with his fellow-members, his unremitting labor, and his intense earnestness were the chief factors in the result. The bill became a law March 30, 1875, and was known thereafter as the "Boyce Law."

These two measures added about $3000.00 to the annual revenues of the University. In the existing condition of the institution this sum was of itself no mean consideration; but it was worth far more as a legislative fact, for it opened the way for other and far greater sums.

Encouraged by these successes, some of the friends of the University obtained from the board of trustees a reluctant consent to ask for a direct appropriation from the state; and in 1880 a bill was introduced appropriating $20,000.00 for the repair of the buildings. The campaign for its passage was notable. Few had any expectation that it would ever pass. Some spoke of it with derision. Some sneered at it. Nearly everybody treated it coldly. Few, even of the trustees, took any active interest in it, and most of them considered the effort to secure its passage a waste of time and of the money spent for railroad and hotel expenses. But there were five or six men who had faith and who proved their faith by earnest and persistent work; and of these there was no one who threw himself into the struggle with so much eagerness and abandon as Mr. Boyce. He was ready at every call. He gave his time without stint. He took advantage of his privileges as a former member of the House, and of his acquaintance with former members and with the members from Cincinnati to press the interests of the University. He extended his acquaintance among the members in order to win more votes. He headed off opposition. His vigilance, his ardor, his courage, his unflagging perseverance made his single presence a host.

This bill passed the House in the Spring of 1880; but before it came to a vote in the Senate, the General Assembly adjourned. During the adjourned session, however, March 21, 1881, it was passed by the Senate in the face of determined opposition and by a bare majority. When the long contest was over and we were at last assured of success, Mr. Boyce was jubilant. I think I never saw a happier man.

On the death, in 1875, of Judge Bellamy Storer of Cincinnati, who had been a trustee of the University for nearly twenty years, I had the pleasure and the honor to nominate Mr. Boyce to the Governor to fill the vacancy. The appointment and its confirmation by the Senate followed. He held the office for twenty-two years, when, on account of his physical disability, he resigned. As long as his health permitted he was an active and progressive servant of the institution. He favored everything that meant advance and enlargement. His services were always available and always valuable.

On the 12th of June, 1884, Mr. Boyce was married to Miss Virginia Wood of Cincinnati, who survives him. They had no children.

In 1904 the Ohio University conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

The most extraordinary thing in the life of Mr. Boyce was the intimate and lifelong friendship between him and his partner, Mr. Boyd. The firm of Boyce & Boyd was more than a law firm. It was a family firm. The members of it not only worked together; they lived together. Both of Irish-Protestant lineage; born in the same year; reared in the same township; inured in childhood and youth to the same experience of hardship and toil; educated in the same schools; members of the same profession and the only members of the same firm; eating at the same table and sleeping for many years in the same room; uniting with the same church; marrying at the same time and marrying sisters, and living thereafter, till death dissolved the tie, as one family; and, from first to last, keeping a single purse into which they put all their earnings and from which each drew as he needed or as he wished, and always making joint investments—they maintained for more than two score years a fellowship which in its intimacy and completeness has seldom, if ever, had a parallel.

Mr. Boyce's nervous condition, which finally resulted in his death, was first noticed as early as 1885 or '86, but it was not till 1887 that his physician pronounced the disease to be a typical case of locomotor ataxia. The following account of the progress of the disease and the heroic spirit with which he encountered it is taken, with slight modification, from a letter by Mr. Boyd: "He made a brave fight against the disease for some twenty-two years. During much of the twenty-two years he could not walk without help. A good deal of the time he was confined to his home, and none of the time was he able to do what he otherwise would have accomplished. During the last year of his life a special nurse had him in charge all the time. I never knew a man to face such adverse conditions with more superb courage or with better spirits. He seemed to think all the time that he was either improving or about to improve in his physical condition. Sometimes he was considerably better, sometimes a good deal worse; but, generally speaking, the dreadful disease was getting a tighter grip on him all the time, until it resulted in his death, May 4, 1909."

WILLIAM HENRY SCOTT, '62.

JOHN COLLINS JACKSON.

(1870.)

John Collins Jackson entered the Ohio University in the Fall of 1865, almost immediately after his discharge from the Civil War. Although but 17 years of age, he had participated with his regiment, the 195th Ohio Volunteer Infantry in Sheridan's great campaign against Early in the Valley of Virginia, and had distinguished himself for courage and fidelity to duty. As the result of his splendid qualities as a soldier he was named for a second lieutenantcy when the regiment was mustered out. The temptation to follow the fortunes of an officer in the United States military service must have been strong to one of his temperament. But the brave, thoughtful young patriot had already seen enough of life to realize that the call of the hour was for men of well-equipped, thoroughly disciplined minds.

So it was that the Ohio University, with its possibilities for splendid mental growth, lured him. From his matriculation, young Jackson impressed the Faculty and his classmates as a student of promise. To qualities of rugged perseverance and determination were added a special fondness for literature, language and mental science. Before he had completed his first year in the University he had so improved the student body with his clean, forceful and logical reasoning powers, and with his ability to clothe his thoughts in choicest English, that he was thereafter chosen to represent his society (the Athenians) in all the annual contests with the "Philos."

For the first three years of his University course, Jackson was uncertain respecting his life work after leaving the college. Medicine and the law both had charms for him, and he often spoke of the splendid opportunities which either field offered. That he would have made a brilliant record in either calling, particularly that of law, can hardly be doubted.

But in the twinkling of an eye his decision was made, and his purpose unalterably fixed. In the great religious revival that swept Athens and the University in 1868, Jackson gave his heart to God and dedicated his life to the Master's service.

He graduated with the class of '70, married a lovely girl, Louvinia Knowles, living near Athens, and in September following knocked at the doors of the Ohio M. E. Conference, then in session at Zanesville, for admission. At first he was given modest appointments, as was to be expected. But his ability, his devotion to his work, and the eloquence of the young preacher soon attracted the attention of the larger churches. Then it was that he was successively called to Portsmouth, Chillicothe, Columbus, Appleton, Wis., Patterson and Jersey City, N. J., etc. It was while holding these prominent positions in New Jersey that his powerful attacks on public vice attracted general attention. For some years he wielded a strong influence as the chairman of the committee for the suppression of vice in Passaic County, New Jersey.

During these years of strenuous activity Dr. Jackson was the object of much attention in educational circles, and received successively the degrees of A. M. and D. D. from the Ohio University, and that of Doctor of Philosophy from the Illinois Wesleyan. For the next ten years following 1882, he not only served large exacting churches, but he occupied a prominent position on the editorial staff of Zion's Herald at Boston; of the Advocate at St. Louis and of the Quadrant, and of the Sunday School Journal, New York.

In 1898, Dr. Jackson, after twenty-eight years of brilliant work as preacher and editor, was called to another field. The great cause of temperance had begun to assume tremendous proportions, and able, consecrated, self-sacrificing men had organized for a battle that was to be to a finish. Dr. Jackson was selected as the right man to fill the editorial chair of the American Issue, and the relentless fight that he waged for the next ten years against the strongly-entrenched saloon power is probably the crowning glory of his life. How well he did this trying work needs no recital.

A renowned physician has recently said that "to live well and die suddenly are the choicest gifts of the gods." John Collins Jackson's theory seems to have been along a different line. To be brave enough to live a life of unselfish, persistent effort for the betterment of humanity, and to die in the harness, would seem to be more nearly his ideal all through his strong, purposeful career. Such was to be his lot. Although suffering much from an insidious ailment during the last year of life, he clung to his duties as the editorial head of the American Issue almost to the last.

Death came to this splendid exponent of right thinking and right acting at his home in Columbus, June 5, 1909.

But the influences of his manly, aggressive life will live on.

JOHN THOMAS DUFF, '70.

ROBERT WESLEY ERWIN.

(1868.)

Harrison County, Ohio, has furnished many splendid students for the Ohio University, and among the first to attend from that county was Robert Wesley Erwin, the subject of this sketch.

It was in February, 1865, just at the close of the war, in which he had rendered faithful service to his country that Mr. Erwin, then a young man of twenty-three, matriculated at the Ohio University. He was born at Lacyville, a hamlet in Harrison County, May 24, 1842. His father was a farmer and stockman and the money that paid the way of the son into college had been obtained from a flock of sheep which the father had given him. On the paternal side he was descended from Scotch Presbyterian ancestors, who had come to America prior to the Revolutionary War. His mother was of English birth.

While yet in his teens the country school was supplemented by a few terms in the New Hagerstown Academy and in the Wepewetikon Normal School. This was in 1859 and 1860.

The Civil War coming on, young Erwin volunteered as a soldier, being a member of Company D, 170th Ohio Volunteer Infantry. As before noted, it was at the close of the war that he came to the Ohio University, graduating in course as a Bachelor of Science in the class of 1868. During his college days he was a member of the Philomathian Literary Society, and of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, being a delegate to the latter's first national convention.

After his graduation, he attended medical lectures at Bellevue Medical College, New York City. In the meantime he occupied the chair of Geometry in Cooper Institute in that city.

He began the practice of his profession in Athens, Ohio, in 1870. April 19th of the same year he married Miss Julia E. Carpenter of that city, and removing to Bay City, Michigan, in 1873, he made that city his home until his death, August 13, 1909.

For thirty-seven years he was one of the most prominent physicians and surgeons in that city. He particularly excelled as a skilled surgeon, performing major operations. He held many positions of honor and trust. While yet in Athens he was one of the United States Examining Surgeons, and for many years was a member of the board of health in Bay City, acting much of the time as chairman.

He took an active interest in various societies that pertained to his profession, among which might be mentioned, The American Academy of Medicine, Michigan State Medical Society, American Medical Association and others. His biography may be found in the "Biography of Eminent American Physicians and Surgeons."

In concluding this sketch, we quote from the Bay City Democrat of August 19, 1909:

"Dr. R. W. Erwin died at the summer home of his daughter, Mrs. E. C. Horn, at Grand Lake, near Alpena, Friday, August 19, 1909. Dr. Erwin's health had been poor for some time past, and he had gone to his daughter's for rest and recuperation. Heart trouble from which he had suffered for some time, was the cause.

"Death came rather suddenly, the doctor being confined to his bed but a short time. The body was brought home the day following and the funeral occurred Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. R. Gregory of the First M. E. Church, West Side, conducted brief but impressive services in the presence of the family, friends and the Bay County Medical Society. Burial was at Elm Lawn."

"Erwin passed one of Bay City's grandest men. It is put that way because in these days of supreme selfishness there are comparatively so few men of heart and honesty that they stand out conspicuously.

commanding the utmost respect of their fellows. His life, or the best of it, spent amongst us, he gave us the opportunity of knowing him well. He came here in 1873 to the then booming lumber town of the north. His ability and zeal soon gained him a lucrative practice, and up to the time of his death was one of the best loved of the old type of family doctor. He was a man of the noblest altruistic impulses, and pecuniary compensation came as a secondary consideration. Many people who have been favored by his beneficence and skill will long venerate his memory. "The greatest monument to his noble endeavor is the place his name holds in the heart of those who knew him."

In closing it is not out of place to say that Dr. Erwin ever had a warm place in his heart for his Alma Mater. Remembering how he himself had struggled for an education, he was moved to aid the aspiring young men and women, now in the Ohio University, by directing that the sum of $250.00 be paid to the Alumni Loan Fund.

WILLIAM D. LASH.
(1871.)

November 17th, 1909, Superintendent William D. Lash died suddenly at his home in Zanesville, Ohio, where he had been connected with the city schools for thirty-seven years. He was born in Alexander township, Athens County, Ohio, a few miles south of Athens. The date of his birth was July 24, 1846. He was a farmer's lad in Alexander and Athens townships, attending the district schools in the winter and working on the farm the rest of the year.

He entered the Preparatory School of the Ohio University, the Fall term of 1866, and graduated from the college in 1871, receiving the degree of A. B. and then of A. M. in 1874. The Autumn after graduating he was employed as principal of the High School of Jackson, Ohio, and in January of 1872, as superintendent of the same school. In the beginning of the school year of 1872, he was called to Kanawha, as assistant principal of the High School. This position he filled three years, when he was elected principal. After filling this position three years he was promoted to the superintendency, and retained in this position until his death, a period of thirty-two years.

School men in Ohio know what growth and improvement in method and means of education have been witnessed in the land in thirty-two years. To keep abreast of this growth and improvement and to adapt the plan of the school work, to bring about the improvement is the mark of a progressive man. This Superintendent Lash accomplished. As the city of Zanesville grew, the enumeration and attendance of pupils increased, and as new buildings and additional teachers were needed, he was able to win the confidence of the board, so that what he recommended could be secured.

A proof of his efficiency and of the confidence of the people of Zanesville of his integrity and work as superintendent, were manifested on several occasions, when attempts were made to make his election a matter of party politics. Whenever this was attempted, the verdict of the ballot was, "Keep Lash at the head of the schools!" Sabbath afternoon following his death a memorial meeting was held in the large High School Auditorium, in which addresses were made by Superintendent Shawan of Columbus, ex-Commissioner E. A. Jones, Commissioner Zeller, and others.

As examples of the expression of the high appreciation of the character and work of Superintendent Lash we quote the following from the resolution of the Board of Education: "In organization, discipline, and instruction, Professor Lash stood exceptionally high * * * thoroughly educated and qualified for his early chosen profession, he gave it the devotion and singleness of purpose of his whole life. Therewith were united talents admirably adapted to the success which he attained. * * *

As a man, a citizen, and a religious worker, his character was without a flaw or reproach—a model in all that constitutes an exemplary ideal, with the respect of all who really knew him." Also the following from the formal address of School Commissioner Zeller: "No other public school man in this section of the state touched and impressed so many young lives * * * nor did so much for the improvement of the great cause to which he gave the full measure of his life. * * * Mr. Lash was a modest, unassuming man—traits of a great man—a keen and close student of educational problems, and familiar with the best thoughts of the day, and these qualities, coupled with a strong personality and great executive ability, enabled him to build up a system of schools of which the people of this city may justly be proud."

It rarely falls to the lot of men to be situated where they can influence and mold three generations and win the confidence and reverence as fell to the lot of Superintendent Lash. II. 5 and out for thirty-seven years before the youth of a city leaves upon the minds of the young, often not recognized, an impression that shapes their whole course in life.

Superintendent Lash fully recognized his responsibility to the youth of Zanesville, and faithfully and fearlessly met it; and the thousands whose education had been under his direction manifested their appreciation of his work by the universal grief which was everywhere evident, as the report of his sudden death spread in the city.

In Church and Sabbath School work, he wrought with the same thoroughness and efficiency as in his public school work; yet it was his personal relations that the character of Mr. Lash shone with the greatest splendor. A son dutiful and devoted to his parents in their old age, deeply affectionate as brother, and especially in his own family he was an amiable companion and a wise counsellor to his two sons, conspicuous for his parental pride and tender protection of his daughter, and a husband affectionate with love-like devotion to the last.

DAFYDD J. EVANS, '71.

Finley Robertson Hanna

Class of 1859

Died March 21st, 1910

Life's Commencement

BY EDWARD EVERETT.

---

---

Darkly the night o'er the college is lying
    Silent the chapel and empty the hall,
Far on the campus the class song is dying,
    Plaintive in distance its cadences fall.
Gone are the years with their glooming and gleaming,
    Golden semesters they ever must seem;
You have been dreaming and dreaming and dreaming,
    But what did you dream?

This is the end of it, this the beginning,
    Night of the campus, but dawning of life.
Is it the wreath that you want, or the winning,
    Is it the laurel, or is it the strife,
Which do you yearn for, receiving or giving?
    Blessed is he who can cheerfully give.
You will be living and living and living,
    But how will you live?

Is it for doing or dues you are pining,
    Is it the treasure you seek, or the quest,
Love you the gold or the task of refining,
    Is it the road or the inn that hath zest?
Earth hath her men for the broiling and spoiling,
    Earth hath her weaklings the light things to do,
Earth hath her strong hearts prepared for the toiling
    But what about you?

